he could, would put them out, or this already quoted, "knowledge of how it must be done, and the fact that it is done, will all go for naught. For all that, it is a game, but a game where the stakes are high, and the odds are against the Hun. Therefore in learning it the men must take it seriously; they must take it as a thing that is real, and not as if the whole thing was reality. That is the only way in which it can be learned." 11

Another feature of the work will be to bring to the attention of the men sneezing or lachrymal or deadly poison gases such as the Prussians are using out there, and to show them improved upon. The use of gas masks, their instantaneous donning, directing the clouds of gas from the front, and the use of gas masks, and the use of gas masks, first aid to the gassed—all of these things will be given the men. 11 liquid fire projectors, as well as the means adopted for defense against this kind of attack. It is to be hoped that other than rifle, machine gun or artillery, to be used away from the users of the flaming liquids.

That every division of the National Guard should have a few months of this that can be taught in the training camps on this side of the Atlantic is the belief of the foreign officers.

Our own men have done this,' they say, 'and they may have done it better. You Americans are of the same breed and you have shown your mettle in the thick of the fighting learning the fundamentals. It merely stands to reason that what other men can do, you can do better. You are men can do. Perhaps you will be able to show us something, who knows?'

Go to Army Balloon School.

Corp. Robert L. Saunders of Company C, 312th Machine Gun Battalion, has been transferred to the army balloon school at Fort Omaha, Neb., where he will be reduced to a private, but with opportunity to receive the same education as soon as he demonstrates fitness.

COVINGTON. In sad and loving memory of our devoted mother, HESTER COVINGTON, who died on November seven years ago today, November 10, 1910.

Over our hearts in years that have flown,
We have remembered her face and her home,
No other worship address and endears,
Faithful, unswerving and patient and true,
We have remembered her face and her home,
We have remembered her face and her home,
DREN, ELIA, MAMIE, SAMUEL, HATTIE,
HESTER, KARRIE AND DARY COVING-

The month of November once more is here,
Because it took from me away
My darling mother seven years ago today,
When she died, my LONELY DAUGHTER,
ELIA CARTER.

Mother, I sit with a breaking heart,
And I think of you, and I long to part;
Yet I know you are waiting at God's white throne
To welcome me, my darling mother.

To welcome your lovely and loving child home,
HER LOVING AND LONELY DAUGHTER,
MRS. DAISY HENSON.

Mother, I miss you more and tenderer each day,
But with the angels who are near,
My darling angels will bear my soul away,
HER DEVOTED AND LONELY DAUGHTER,
MRS. HESTER RHONE.

DAY. In loving remembrance of our dear mother, MARY ANN DAY, who died on November 10, 1910.

Second Lieut. James W. Marrinan has been assigned to the company.

He is a machine gun expert, being a graduate of two machine gun officers' schools or training camps and is to be in direct charge of the machine guns of the company. Besides his knowledge gained in the training schools, Lieut. Marrinan has had considerable practical experience of working in the Colt factories, where he learned at first hand the construction of the machine gun.

He is the brother of John J. Marrinan, Washington correspondent of the Boston Herald.

The machinery of the Kelly Construction Company has all been loaded on flat cars and much of it has already been shipped to the company's headquarters. Machinery owned by this and other contracting concerns has also been sent away.

The number of men employed is growing noticeably smaller from day to day. By the 15th of this month it is expected practically all of the civilian laborers will have departed and the remainder to be done will be in the hands of the military.

JOHNSON. In sacred remembrance of my dear mother and father, THOMAS HENRY JOHNSON, who entered into rest two years ago tomorrow, October 30, 1914.

When sorrowing o'er some state I bend,
Which covers what was once a friend,
And from his voice I hear his smile,
I feel that I am not alone,
For 't is for a little while
Thou, Savior, mark'st the tears we shed,
And know'st the heart that grieves and aches.

BY HIS LOVING WIFE AND DAUGHTER,
BARBARA AND EDITH.

KOCH. In sad and loving remembrance of my dear husband, FRED KOCH, departed this life one year ago today, November 19, 1914.

"My spirit goes to thy dwelling fond,
And with thy God above,
And BY HIS WIFE, EVELYN KOCH."

SANDERSON. In fond remembrance of our dear mother, Mrs. JENNIE V. SANDERSON, who departed this life one year ago today, November 16, 1914.

BY HER SON EARL AND WIFE.

SEARS. TAYLOR. In loving remembrance of our mother, MARY TAYLOR SEARS, who died October 30, 1893, and SEARS V.

WILLIAM H. TENLEY.

William H. Tenley, seventy-six years old, veteran of the printing trade, and last male member of the Tenley family, after which Tenleytown, D. C., is named, died Thursday at Sibley Hospital.

Funeral services are to be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Speare chapel, 940 F street, the services originally planned for this afternoon having been postponed to await the coming of a niece, Mrs. Margaret Macey of Auburn, Mass. Rev. E. K. Hardin of the Mount Vernon Place M. E. Church South is to officiate. Interment is to be at Glenwood cemetery in the family lot, where are buried the father, mother, two sisters and brother of Mr. Tenley.

Mr. Tenley was born at Portsmouth, Va. He came to Washington when a boy and entered the employ of The Star to learn the printing trade. He was connected with The Star for about twenty years, leaving the employ of the paper in 1893. For the past seven years he had lived at the Methodist Home, 6th and M streets northwest.

750,000 Cars Needed for Potato Crop

Seven hundred and fifty thousand cars will be needed to move the nation's bumper potato crop of 453,000,000 bushels. In making this announcement, Fairfax Harrison, chairman of the railroad's war board, said the transporting of the crop began the middle of September.
